

Earned Income Credit (EIC or EITC)

What is the EIC?

The Earned Income Credit (EIC) is a refundable federal income tax credit for low-income working individuals and families. You do not need to owe taxes to receive the EIC. For the 2010 tax year, the maximum credit is $5,666.

How does it work?

The amount of the EIC refund is based on family size, filing status and income. To receive the EIC, taxpayers must have earned income and must file a federal tax return. The EIC does not disqualify or qualify recipients for public benefits.

DC residents can claim EICs on both their federal and state tax returns. If you qualify for the federal credit, you will also qualify for the DC EIC. For the 2010 tax year, the DC EIC is equal to 35% of the federal EIC.

Income Limits (Preview of the 2010 tax year)

Number of Qualifying Children	Adjusted Gross Income, Single	Adjusted Gross Income, Married Filing Jointly	Maximum Credit (Annual)
0	$13,460	$18,470	$457
1	35,535	40,545	3,050
2	40,363	45,373	5,036
3 or more	43,352	48,362	5,666

*Gross income includes money, goods, property, and services. Adjusted gross income is income minus allowed deductions, such as alimony, IRA contributions, health savings account contributions and one-half of self-employment tax (NOT itemized deductions or credits).
